

Press Release

World Naked Bike Ride London 2018

18th January 2018 for immediate release

Date announced for the 15th annual World Naked Bike Ride in London

World Naked Bike Ride (WNBR) has today set the date for London's 2018 ride. It will be held on the afternoon of Saturday 9th June, 2018. This year the date coincides with the Trooping of the Colour in the morning, so there should be good crowds to cheer us on and maybe the riders will once again sing Happy Birthday to the Queen.

As in previous years, there will be multiple start points converging into a 1000+ rider peloton. The start points offer riders the choice of short, slow rides or longer faster rides into Central London. Times and locations will be confirmed closer to the date.

About the World Naked Bike Ride

The World Naked Bike Ride is a global protest movement with rides in cities around the world. There are currently 124 WNBR flags on the world map. As well as promoting healthy life choices it can also be the best fun you can ever have on two wheels. The London ride has the excitement of a carnival, with big crowds to cheer it on.

Every year, in cities around the world, people ride bikes naked to celebrate cycling and the human body. The ride demonstrates the vulnerability of cyclists and is a protest against car culture. WNBR is a world-wide campaign, with a number of linked themes.

WNBR's objectives are to:

- Protest against the global dependency on oil
- Curb car culture
- Obtain real rights for cyclists
- Demonstrate the vulnerability of cyclists on city streets
- Celebrate body freedom

Participation

Anyone with a bicycle is welcome to participate for free, so long as they support the objectives of the World Naked Bike Ride.

Riders will be of all ages. Many couples take part. Families are welcome but children should be accompanied by their parent or guardian and should be appropriately dressed. We welcome all people from all backgrounds and want the ride to promote London's unique diversity and inclusivity for bike riders, including those new to cycling who want to gain the confidence to ride on London's roads – and want them to be safe. Whatever your ability or able-bodiedness or type of bike (handbikes, trikes, electric bikes, tandems, chariots, any bikes) you are welcome.

It is not a race. Riders will be guided by the marshals at a pace that suits the least able participants and best serves to communicate WNBR's messages and objectives.

This is a "naked bike ride" so clothing is optional. We advise riders to wear shoes for safety reasons. No one should get naked before the official start of the ride or spend an unnecessarily long time dressing at the end. The protest has a carnival feel, so you are welcome to adorn yourself with colourful patterns and slogans, fly flags and wear fancy dress. Many suitable slogans can be found on the website. You will probably want a rucksack, panniers or a bicycle basket to carry your belongings. (There is no place to leave things while you ride.) Don't forget the suncream!

As a protest, the ride is cleared in advance with the Police. Contrary to popular belief, as enacted in the Sexual Offences Act 2003, in England nakedness is not illegal unless you are doing it intending to alarm or distress someone – which clearly is not the intention of WNBR. Provided riders do not break other laws there should be no problem. Clearly, people should follow the requests of the Police regardless of whether the law is on their side. We believe that some visibility of non-sexual nudity of diverse ordinary people is a good antidote to the highly distorted view that young people can develop about body image, normal human bodies, adult behaviours and loving relationships.

Costs and Funding

WNBR is made possible by volunteers and donors. No one is paid for working on WNBR, but there are several things that cost money, such as road closure fees, communications equipment hire, printing, etc. The ride is completely free to attend. Supporters can make donations towards the costs via PayPal using the "Donate" buttons on the WNBR London website or FaceBook pages.

Resources

Requests for further information are welcome at london@wnbr.org.uk. There is also a depth of information available on the WNBR wiki site that is accessed via <http://wnbr.org.uk/london>.

Requests for interviews should be made via our Press Office at londonpress@wnbr.org.uk.

We produce, collect and collate photos and videos, but we are usually too busy guiding the ride to be able to circulate these on the day. However, we grant you permission to use anything we share on our official Twitter feed (@WNBRLondon) or our FaceBook page (<https://www.facebook.com/WNBRLondon/>). Here are some resources from previous rides.

A video of the ride in 2014 was produced to meet social media standards, avoiding the display of private parts and female nipples through tight and sometimes brutal editing. This gives a good representation of what it looks and feels like to be a participant. Clips may be used for the purpose of illustrating WNBR in a positive manner. We can supply original out-of-the-camera clips if requested in advance.

A 30 second preview is available showing some “best bits” filmed between 2011 and 2017. See <https://vimeo.com/250451568>

These videos have been produced in accordance with common social media standards. They have been carefully edited to contain no bad language, no private parts, no female nipples, and no fully exposed bottoms.

Many photos are available on the internet; most are somewhat exploitative, taken without consent and not approved for publication.

We rely on your judgement for suitability in any given publication. Some photos might not be suitable for a family audience. Use of the photos below for the purpose of promoting WNBR in 2018 has been approved by the named photographers and any featured individuals. Photography credits are preferred but not essential. Please do not blow up crowd scenes and backgrounds to feature people who are just a face in the crowd.

These and several more photos and images can be downloaded from a temporary Google Drive folder – please do not publish the address of the folder! Alternatively, email us to request a copy. See <https://drive.google.com/open?id=0Bw9utABL3mPxX3RrakliTXgyY1k>
